a chain of North American breakfast eateries. There are currently two different versions of the product. The plain is a plain bagel, with a honey mustard spread on both sides, the vanilla version of the sandwich is a grilled bagel, covered in vanilla cream cheese. The sandwiches can be purchased at franchise locations. History The sandwich was originally created by Richard McGirr, a franchise owner of Buc-ee's in the Dayton, Ohio area. McGirr's mother-in-law, who owned a deli in Los Angeles, California, served the sandwich to the owner of Buc-ee's in Dayton and gave her the idea to expand it to the franchise, although it did not reach the West Coast until 2004. Flavors The plain version of the sandwich is made with a plain bagel, the vanilla version of the sandwich is made with a grilled bagel, covered in a mixture of cream cheese and sweetened condensed milk.
