This forms a powerful multiphysics model that solves all equations simultaneously. The AC/DC module also provides interfaces for modeling electrical ... This module is the basis for building powerful multiphysics systems that operate in both time-sharing and real-time modes. The core of the system is a model that is fully dynamic, fully multiphysics, fully integrated (i.e. includes all the possibilities of both physical and multiphysics processes). In practice, this system core combines physics and multiphysics algorithms into a single model.
