The state administration of West Bengal on Wednesday launched a counter-attack on the Trinamool Congress government at the panchayat elections, alleging that the opposition party had set a parallel commission to collect the party symbol, which could lead to a rigging of the state elections. Kolkata: The state administration of West Bengal on Wednesday launched a counter-attack on the Trinamool Congress government at the panchayat elections, alleging that the opposition party had set a parallel commission to collect the party symbol, which could lead to a rigging of the state elections.Opposition leader Derek O'Brien today said the symbols were being collected by the party management "through parallel commissions" in four districts and the party would act against such a move."How can you conduct a panchayat election in a free country when at every meeting you will have an official of the ruling party? Here we are conducting panchayat elections in a free country, and you are taking your parallel commissions," he said at a press conference. O'Brien said that no symbol could be used in view of the Shaharajpur incident, in which Trinamool Congress workers allegedly shot at party workers in Kolkata during a meeting last year. Chief electoral officer Rajeev Kumar said the Election Commission was already monitoring the situation and would take any action required. "We will have to see if a complaint is filed. We are closely monitoring the situation," he said. The state administration has set up a parallel commission of ST/SC/OBC leaders to collect the party symbol, a move it said was aimed at keeping the panchayat polls free and fair. Three zones Four-and-a-half lakh panchayat seats are up for grabs in the first of the two elections in which voting will take place on November 21. The elections will be held in four zones - North, South, East and Central - in the three districts of North 24 P 1cdb36666d
